BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—President John F. Kennedy is expected to visit Buenos Aires late next month as part of a four-nation Latin American tour.

Foreign Minister Diogenes Tondina announced Sunday night that Kennedy will arrive in the Argentine capital Feb. 24 or 25 for a two-day visit. He made the disclosure after conferring with Argentine President Arturo Frondizi.

There was no confirmation of the visit from Washington, but reports have been circulating in the U. S. capital that Kennedy plans to visit Uruguay, Argentina and Chile after visiting Brazil's new capital, Brasilia, in late February.

In Augusta, Ga., where the President is vacationing, press secretary James C. Hagerty would not confirm the Argentine announcement. Last week Hagerty told reporters a Latin American tour was under study.

Earlier reports from Rio de Janeiro said Kennedy was expected to fly from the United States to Brasilia, in east central Brazil, then fly on to Rio for a brief visit.

According to the Rio reports, the President would then sail aboard a U. S. cruiser to Montevideo, Uruguay, and Buenos Aires, then

Holiday Death Toll Exceeds Predictions

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Traffic fatalities during the New Year holiday period exceeded predictions, according to a survey by the National Safety Council.

The survey showed that the toll of 324 deaths in traffic accidents during the New Year holiday period exceeded the 1955-56 record of 304 deaths during the 1955-56 New Year's weekend.

The traffic fatalities, deaths in fires and in miscellaneous accidents also appeared likely to top the over-all record for any three-day New Year holiday period.

But the National Safety Council, which had estimated a traffic toll of 320, said it did not believe the final figures would surpass the record traffic toll for the holiday—409 in the four-day period in 1955-1957.

The count started at 6 p.m. local time Thursday and ended at midnight Sunday.

Deaths on the highway, many in multi-fatal accidents, were far below the heavy toll of 493 reported in the three-day Christmas weekend. However, more persons lost their lives in fires during the New Year period. The number killed in miscellaneous type accidents was about the same. Traffic generally is lighter and travel distances shorter during the New Year period.

The Associated Press in a survey during a non-holiday period of 78 hours, from 6 p.m. Thursday Dec. 10 to midnight Sunday, Dec. 13, recorded 324 deaths in traffic accidents. The survey also showed 22 killed in fires and 68 deaths in miscellaneous accidents, for a total of 414.

Strike Cost More Than $6 Billion

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The 11-day steel strike cost more than six billion dollars in wage and production losses.

The strike lasted from July 15 until Nov. 7 last year. It was halted by a Taft-Hartley law injunction.

Striking steelworkers and the basic steel industry absorbed most of the loss, but other industries allied to steel also felt the effects.

The half-million steelworkers lost an estimated 1,160,000,000 in wages.

Lost steel production totaled nearly five billion dollars, based on prestrike operations. The strike shut down about 87 per cent of the nation's basic steelmaking capacity.

More than 350,000 workers in steel-related industries were laid off, resulting in additional wage and production losses in unestimated millions of dollars.

2 Democratic Candidates Announce

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two announced candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination appeared today to wage a major battle in Wisconsin.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said today he considers the April 5 Wisconsin primary "the heart and core of my political prospects." Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) said he knows of no reason why he would not enter the same contest.

Both have campaigned widely in the state. Kennedy's formal announcement, which listed his entry only in the New Hampshire primary, in which he is not likely to have appeared, he said Sunday he will announce within four or five weeks whether he will file in Wisconsin and other states.

Humphrey said in an interview he believes he will win in Wisconsin and added: "The Wisconsin primary is at the very center of my efforts. It is the heart and core of my political prospects."

Kennedy said Sunday in a radio-television interview — NBC Meet The Press—that he would run in representative primaries if Humphrey is willing to enter them.

Kennedy said he was confident the two would be running against each other in at least two primaries and that he expects to win.

But he declined to issue any challenge to Humphrey, saying he would prefer to "let Sen. Humphrey decide where he is going to run." As for the Wisconsin contest, Kennedy said "I know of no reason why I might not enter that, or many other primaries."

Humphrey said his next visit to Wisconsin will be Jan. 17 when he will meet boosters at an informal session in Milwaukee. After that, he said, he will make frequent weekend trips to Wisconsin to compete "county by county, city by city and very extensively in the rural areas."

Snow Falls in Some Areas of Arkansas Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Light snow fell in some areas of Arkansas today as colder weather laid its hand on the state.

A chance of sleet throughout the state was predicted for tonight, along with lows ranging from the upper 20s to the upper 30s.

Scattered light rain or sleet was in the outlook for both tonight and tomorrow.

Very light snow was reported at Pine Bluff, Camden, Hot Springs and Texarkana. It was snowing briskly at Hope. The snow was not sticking to the ground.

Elsewhere in the state, skies were overcast and temperatures were on the chilly side.

Lows today varied from 20 degrees at Fayetteville to 30 at Texarkana. Today's highs were expected to be in the mid to high 30s in the northwest and around the 40 mark in other sections.

The top readings tomorrow are forecast to range from the mid 30s to mid 40s.

Icy air and gusty winds spread across wide areas of the country today but stormy weather diminished in most sections.

It was a frigid 26 degrees below zero at International Falls, Minn., on the Canadian border. Readings far below zero were reported in other parts of Minnesota and the Dakotas and Montana. The mercury failed to climb above zero in parts of the cold belt Sunday.

The arctic air, sweeping southward from Canada, maintained its pace as it advanced through the eastern half of the country and the northern Plains. New England was battered by high winds, heavy rains and snow Sunday as the storm which hit the Midwest surged eastward. Temperatures dropped along the entire Atlantic seaboard from Maine to Florida.

It was below freezing in Tennessee but most of the South and East reported readings in the 30s and some 40s. The freezing mark also extended westward across Oklahoma. It was slightly above freezing to near 20 across the Rockies and plateau region.

Cold air chilled sections of Southern California, threatening damage to citrus crops. The mercury dropped to the 30s in Phoenix, Ariz., and was around freezing at Atlanta.

It was 44 at Anchorage, Alaska.

Union, Industry Settle Costly 8 Month Steel Dispute Voluntarily

Urged to Seek Presidency, Faubus Says

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today that hundreds of Southerners urged him to run for president while he was on a weekend trip to Florida to watch the Gator Bowl football game.

The governor told his news conference it would be "immodest of me" to say anything about his reception in Jacksonville where the University of Arkansas beat Georgia Tech 14-7 in the bowl contest Saturday.

But under pressure from reporters, he said hundreds of persons—mostly from Florida and Georgia—talked to him about his political future and "about two-thirds urged me to run for president."

Every now and then he would meet a Yankee who told him "we are for you," governor added.

He said the way the subject was put to him boiled down to a question of, "If you don't run, who are we going to get?"

However, Faubus reiterated that he is not encouraging a presidential nomination boom on his behalf. There has been speculation he might be a candidate for the Democratic nomination or even a states rights third party nomination.

The governor has played it easy where such rumors are concerned. Buttons plugging Faubus for president have cropped up around the state Capitol building here in the past few days. They were shipped to Arkansas from Los Angeles. The governor said someone there asked him recently for authority to use his name in a "Faubus for President" drive but he refused.

He said the person—whose name was not disclosed—next asked him if he would oppose use of his name. Faubus said he replied that he did not think he could stop such action but would not encourage the move.

Asked what kind of development would lend him to come out as a presidential aspirant, the governor said:

"You can draw your own conclusions from my present attitude that I am not going to encourage it."

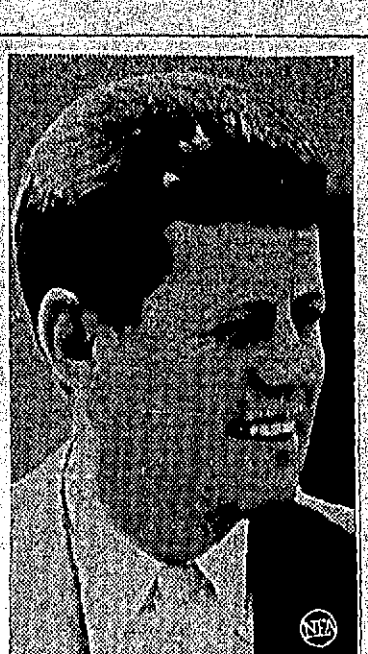

To persistent questions, he answered that he would not have to be handed the Democratic nomination "on a silver platter." However, he would not go any deeper into the issue.

A questioner wanted to know if he would frown on "Faubus for President" clubs in Arkansas. The governor said he thought they would be superfluous.

Reports 39c Hour Steel Wage Hike

By JOHN MOODY

PITTSBURGH (AP)—An informed source told The Associated Press today that the new steel labor agreement reached in Washington provides for an estimated 39-cent hourly package increase over the next 30 months.

The source, who asked not to be identified, said the work rules issues, which the industry had long insisted was a major requirement for any settlement, has been shelved for all practical purposes.

The source did not break down the package into wages and benefits.

Steelworkers were earning an average of $3.11 cents an hour while working under terms of an 80-day Taft-Hartley law injunction.

The work rules, a bitterly disputed issue since shortly after the labor pact was reached last May in New York, will be submitted to a committee for study, the source said.

The committee will be composed of representatives of both management and the United Steelworkers Union. It will have no power to make binding recommendations.

Terms Withheld Until Official Acceptance

WASHINGTON (AP)—The eight-month steel dispute was settled today.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, looking tired and haggard, announced that the United Steelworkers Union and the industry have "voluntarily" accepted terms recommended by himself and Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The secretary made his announcement to newsmen in a room in the Sheraton-Carlton Hotel after a 22-hour continuous negotiating session.

Mitchell, flanked by President David J. McDonald of the USW and the chief industry negotiator, R. Conrad Cooper, said he and Nixon had been mediating for the past several weeks at President Eisenhower's request.

As a result, he said, the differences between the parties were narrowed to the point where the government recommended settlement was accepted voluntarily.

McDonald said the union's Wage Policy Committee had been summoned to meet in Washington at 2 p.m. Tuesday. He will present the settlement terms to the committee.

Mitchell said that pending ratification by both sides the terms would be withheld.

Without going into the terms, McDonald said the settlement means peace and prosperity for the steelworkers. He added that the union is "agreed, satisfied and cured."

Cooper said in a statement that "naturally we are relieved that this controversy is over and that the nationwide fear of another steel strike on Jan. 26 has been removed."

The Jan. 26 date is the time when the Taft-Hartley labor law injunction, under which the men are now working, would expire. Lacking a settlement, the union would have been free to strike again then.

Cooper said the recommended settlement represents a compromise which goes beyond what the companies had previously offered.

"But it is clear that in light of all the circumstances at hand, the best course of action was for the companies to accept the recommended settlement," Cooper said.

"We hope that the union officers at all levels and the steelworkers they represent will join hands with management in a united effort to improve efficiency and eliminate waste—and in this way increase the rate of economic progress so greatly needed," Cooper said.

The degree of such cooperation, Cooper went on, will bear heavily upon the extent to which the settlement may inflate steel production costs.

While he has not obtained our full objectives, progress has been made on many of the issues involved in this dispute," Cooper said.

Mitchell said "there is no question in my mind, none whatsoever" that the settlement terms will be accepted by both sides.

Asked about Nixon's role in the crucial talks, the secretary said: "Without the vice president we would not have had a settlement."

Mitchell said Nixon began intensive efforts to arrange a settlement when President Eisenhower was away on his 11-nation goodwill trip abroad.

Mitchell related that one of the other of the parties, or both, met quietly eight or ten times at the home of the vice president. Nixon also met with the heads of the 11 major steel companies, comprising the industry policy team in New York, Mitchell disclosed.

The basic recommendation was made by Nixon and Mitchell Thursday morning, the day after the vice president left for California, Mitchell disclosed.

"His (Nixon's) influence, his leadership and his prestige were very significant in this settlement."

Death Takes a Holiday in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Death took a holiday on Arkansas' highways during the long New Year's weekend. Not a single fatality was reported.

Capt. Jack Rhea, head of the State Police safety division, said at Little Rock today he was proud of the state's showing.

"It just proves people can drive on Arkansas streets and highways without the carnage of some holiday periods in the past," he said.

Rhea was thankful that his reluctant prediction of a possible four holiday traffic deaths in Arkansas didn't come true. He expected five deaths in the Christmas holiday weekend and exactly that many occurred.

Arkansas was one of the few states that had no New Year's weekend traffic fatalities. Nationwide, the toll was a grim one — in excess of 360 — and delayed reports were expected to push it to an all-time high.

"I'm glad Arkansas didn't contribute to it," Rhea said.

He said a number of wrecks were reported in Arkansas during the holiday period, which began at 6 p.m. Thursday and ended at midnight Sunday. However, he added, the count of wrecks was lighter than usual for a long holiday weekend.

Last year, the New Year's holiday death toll for the state was four.

The bright picture in Arkansas probably was due partly to the fact that many holiday travelers got an early start on the way home, Rhea said.

He could not recall another holiday period in Arkansas which saw no traffic fatalities.

Arkansas' pre-holiday death toll for the week was five. One person was killed in a traffic accident and another died from injuries received earlier. One death was due to burns, one person was killed by a falling tree and another died when a car he was repairing fell on him.

Smackover Licks El Dorado for Tourney Honors

By TEDDY JONES

Hope Star Sports Editor

Smackover defeated El Dorado 57-40 in the finals of the first annual Hope Holiday Tournament. The game was played at the El Dorado Field House Saturday night.

The Buckaroos pulled the game out of the fire in the final quarter to win by eight points. El Dorado jumped to a fast first quarter lead and was ahead by 19-0 at the end of the first quarter. Smackover closed the gap to 27-32 by half time and was within two points, trailing 51-49, at the close of the third period, and went ahead to stay midway of the fourth.

Barker and Black were the big scorers for Smackover. Each had 20 points apiece to lead all scorers. Jimmy Jackson and Joe Marlar were top scorers for the Big Nine Wildcats, with Jackson getting 19 and Marlar 14.

Both teams suffered from excessive fouling with Smackover losing Burnett, a six foot rebounder, early in the third quarter and the Wildcats having to go without Chadwick and Marlar who fouled out late in the final period.

Natural rivals of long standing the game was fast and heated throughout with a goodly sprinkling of Smackover fans jubilant at the upset victory of the Bucks over the Wildcats.

Smackover was awarded the tournament first place trophy by Coach Don Sevier in ceremonies following the final game. El Dorado took home the second place award, while Waldo received a loving cup as the third place finisher.

In the third place consolation game played before Saturday's championship affair Waldo outclassed Ashdown 65 to 52.

Larry Fincher was big gun for Waldo, scoring 33 points. The unusual start to the scoring figure is that Fincher scored only four field goals for an eight point total, but cashed in on 20 free throws. Williamson scored 15 for Waldo while Carey followed with 13 and Weems had eight.

Booth again led Ashdown scorers with 18 points, followed by Hubbard with 14, Watson with 11, and Beaux with eight.

No all star or tournament teams were named.

Supl. J. H. Jones and Coach Don Sevier indicated that the tournament had been successful from the team participation angle. They were both disappointed at the general attendance throughout the week long affair. While fairly good attendance figures did not reach anticipations.

Both school officials realized and commented on the fact that the first round elimination of the Hope Betsels by Ashdown, 49-48, influenced the attendance of local fans.

Saturday night's closer had a good representation from Waldo, Ashdown, Smackover and El Dorado, led by school cheer leaders from all the schools.

Tournament results: Lewisville 47, Emmet 34.

Waldo 49, De Queen 34
Smackover 52, Stamps 33
El Dorado 46, Lewisville 28
Ashdown 45, Prescott 33
El Dorado 54, Waldo 35
Smackover 62, Ashdown 54

Victorious Porks Given a Rousing Welcome Home

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks are back in Fayetteville — minus Gator Bowl her Jim Moely.

Moely, the All America halfback who led the Porks to a 14-7 Gator Bowl victory over Georgia Tech Saturday, went from Jacksonville, Fla., to Mobile, Ala., where he will play for Coach Webb Edwards' South team in next Saturday's Senior Bowl all-star game.

About 3,000 chilled fans turned out in Fort Smith yesterday to greet the plane which brought the Porks back from sunny Florida. Besides Moely, Head Coach Frank Broyles was missing. He stopped off in Little Rock to appear on a television show.

Cars were lined up for miles on the road to the Fort Smith airport. Part of the crowd joined a motorcade which followed the Porks' bus to Fayetteville.

The Porks brought home Arkansas' first major bowl victory and the season's four post season appearances. The Hogs tied Louisiana State 0-0 in the 1940 Cotton Bowl, their first bowl contest, beat William and Mary 21-18 in the defunct Dixie Bowl at Birmingham in 1947 and lost to Georgia Tech 14-6 in the 1955 Cotton Bowl.

Arkansas played the same kind of football which won a Southwest Conference championship to snag the Gator Bowl and become the first Arkansas team to win nine games in one season. The Porks' final showing was 92.

The Razorbacks spotted Georgia Tech a touchdown on a 51-yard run by quarterback Marvin "Tubby" Bell. This came immediately after Arkansas blunted a Tech drive on the eight, the Jackets tried and missed a field goal and Arkansas, unable to move, punted out.

Arkansas drove 68 yards for the tying touchdown in the second quarter with fullback Joe Paul Alberry scoring from the one. The clincher came in the third period on a 74-yard march. Moely scampered the last 18 yards.

For his efforts, Moely was named the outstanding player on the winning team and his All America teammate, Tech center Maxie Baughman, was named best of the losers.

Moely and Baughman will play together for the South in the Senior Bowl.

Ewbank, who earns a living coaching the Baltimore Colts (two straight world's championships) probably will start Moely. Ewbank may also scout the swifty because he may be seeing him in the pro ranks next year.

Moely has signed a contract with Dallas, which is scheduled to get a National Football League franchise for next season. If Dallas isn't admitted to the NFL, Moely probably will sign with the Calgary Stampeders of the Canadian Football League. Calgary reportedly has offered Moely an $11,000 contract.

The triumph marked the third time in four years the West has pulled an upset.

Victorious Porks Given a Rousing Welcome Home

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks are back in Fayetteville — minus Gator Bowl her Jim Moely.

Moely, the All America halfback who led the Porks to a 14-7 Gator Bowl victory over Georgia Tech Saturday, went from Jacksonville, Fla., to Mobile, Ala., where he will play for Coach Webb Edwards' South team in next Saturday's Senior Bowl all-star game.

About 3,000 chilled fans turned out in Fort Smith yesterday to greet the plane which brought the Porks back from sunny Florida. Besides Moely, Head Coach Frank Broyles was missing. He stopped off in Little Rock to appear on a television show.

Cars were lined up for miles on the road to the Fort Smith airport. Part of the crowd joined a motorcade which followed the Porks' bus to Fayetteville.

The Porks brought home Arkansas' first major bowl victory and the season's four post season appearances. The Hogs tied Louisiana State 0-0 in the 1940 Cotton Bowl, their first bowl contest, beat William and Mary 21-18 in the defunct Dixie Bowl at Birmingham in 1947 and lost to Georgia Tech 14-6 in the 1955 Cotton Bowl.

Arkansas played the same kind of football which won a Southwest Conference championship to snag the Gator Bowl and become the first Arkansas team to win nine games in one season. The Porks' final showing was 92.

The Razorbacks spotted Georgia Tech a touchdown on a 51-yard run by quarterback Marvin "Tubby" Bell. This came immediately after Arkansas blunted a Tech drive on the eight, the Jackets tried and missed a field goal and Arkansas, unable to move, punted out.

Arkansas drove 68 yards for the tying touchdown in the second quarter with fullback Joe Paul Alberry scoring from the one. The clincher came in the third period on a 74-yard march. Moely scampered the last 18 yards.

For his efforts, Moely was named the outstanding player on the winning team and his All America teammate, Tech center Maxie Baughman, was named best of the losers.

Moely and Baughman will play together for the South in the Senior Bowl.

Ewbank, who earns a living coaching the Baltimore Colts (two straight world's championships) probably will start Moely. Ewbank may also scout the swifty because he may be seeing him in the pro ranks next year.

Cincinnati Is Only Unbeaten Major Team

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

California's pitiful Bears and clutch-shooting Southern California have at it again tonight in a college basketball rematch of Saturday's 65-57 USC victory that snapped Cal's 25-game winning streak.

Meanwhile Cincinnati, the unchallenged national leader now that California has stubbed its toe, makes ready for a two-game road trip snatching its plunge into fullscale Missouri Valley Conference play.

The California-Southern California meeting, on the same Los Angeles court where the Trojans sprang their string-snapper Saturday, actually is a rubber game. Cal, which had won nine straight this season since building up a 16-game streak in its rush to the NCAA championship last March, toppled Southern Cal 65-61 in overtime in the semifinals of the Los Angeles Classic last Tuesday.

The Trojans, now 8-3 and sure to join the elite in the national rankings this week, get the job done with a smooth-shooting rally after failing to hit from the field in the first 7 minutes.

Cal's loss left Cincinnati, better known as Oscar Robertson & friends, with a solid top-ranking and the longest major streak—a more 11 games. The Bearcats rolled to their 14th straight this season by shaking away from Dayton's ball control for a 70-63 decision Saturday as Big O scored 32 for a 40.7 season average.

The Bearcats get down to the serious business of attempting defense of their Missouri Valley title this week. They travel to Wichita Thursday and Tulsa on Saturday.

Hardly through the pre-conference period, only four major schools remain unbeaten—one of the scrappiest perfect record lists in recent years. With Cincinnati (10-0), the others are Texas A&M (6-0), Villanova (7-0) and LaSalle (6-0). None of the latter three has been tested by a rated power.

Beasides California, DePaul of Chicago slipped from the allwinning class over the weekend—losing 75-74 to Louisville.

In other significant games, ninth-ranked Bradley crushed sixth-ranked St. Louis 84-64 in a showdown meeting of Cincinnati's top rivals in the Missouri Valley. Purdue and Minnesota thoroughly scrambled the Big Ten picture, with the Boiler-makers slugging seventh-ranked Indiana 78-76 and the much-whipped Gophers cuffing Iowa 70-61, and Georgia Tech, tenth-ranked, established itself as top banana in the Southern Conference by whipping Kentucky on the Wildcats' home floor, 62-54.

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—The angled-deck aircraft carrier Randolph, recently redesigned as an anti-submarine warfare ship, has taken over the flag of ASW Task Group Alpha. She replaces the straight-decked carrier Valley Forge which will go into a naval shipyard for extensive overhaul.

THREE ON A MATCH—Identical triplets Kennan, Kevin and Kenneth Dodson, left to right, gaze wonderingly at their first birthday cake in Memphis, Tenn. The boys were commissioned "colonels" by Gov. A. B. Chandler of the state where they were born, Kentucky. The Dodson family moved to Tennessee a few months ago.

Senior Bowl Practice Is Underway

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Practice was scheduled to begin today for about 50 players here for the 11th annual Senior Bowl football game next Saturday.

Jim Lee Howell of the New York Giants, coach for the North team, and the South's Weeb Ewbank of the Baltimore Colts, wrapped up last minute details yesterday preparatory to beginning practice.

"We have been preparing for a championship pro game (with the Giants) until last week," said Ewbank. "So we haven't had too much time to evaluate the squad which we have here."

"However, I have noticed that on both sides there are outstanding players and the teams seem to be about evenly balanced."

Ewbank called the roll on his team and counted 21 on hand. Four more were expected by practice time.

Howell said he hasn't had time to make plans for his North team yet.

"Al Sherman my assistant, has made several visits here to the Senior Bowl and he knows the routine," said Howell. "I'll check with him and set up our work schedule."

"I have gone over the roster on paper but have had little opportunity to evaluate any of the players."

"That will come in practice sessions."

Arkansas' All America halfback, Jim Mooty, is expected to figure prominently in Ewbank's plans.

Rundown on the Nation's Bowl Games

By MIKE RATHER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Almost half-a-million people sat in concrete stadiums throughout the country during a three-day period last week to witness 10 bowl games ushering in the new instrument out to her. She took it from trembling.

"Hello?" she said. "Hello?"

For an interval these were the only words she spoke. The phone pressed close to her ear, she listened with an expression of growing incredulity to the urgent, shaken voice at the other end of the line. Finally, she shook her head in flat disbelief.

"But that can't be true," she said. "He was—"

The voice broke in again swiftly, insistently.

"Yes," Carol said. "Yes, we were moving today. They were here, of course, but—"

As the voice continued, hope began to dawn on her face as it had at first on Bill's. But this time, instead of fading, it increased rapidly into a bright look of joyous certainty.

"Yes!" she cried in sudden excitement. "Yes, he did! Oh, yes. When was that?" Again she was silent, listening, her eyes alight with a relief too great for words.

"Yes, it was! Oh, bless you! Bless you!" And then her eyes brimmed over and when she tried to speak again she was unable to. She turned, giving the receiver to Bill.

"It's Davey!" she managed finally in a choked whisper. "I mean, it's about Davey. Oh, Bill, here, of course, but I—"

Dropping to the window seat, hardly aware that Bill had taken the phone from her and was speaking into it, she folded her arms across the breast and hugged herself in an ecstasy of relief. Davey was all right! The woman had seen him. She had described him, how he looked, what he was wearing, everything. She even had his wallet. Whatever had happened, he was all right!

Bill had spent the last two minutes on the phone, talking first to Mr. Phillips, the manager-owner of Phillips' Moving Service, and then to Sergeant Mercer. As he finally put down the receiver, Carol and Mrs. Primus looked at him with eager impatience.

"They're going to call ahead to Westbury," Bill said. "They have a sheriff's office there and it's only a few miles from the house. He said we'd probably have word in about an hour or 45 minutes."

"Forty-five minutes!" Carol cried.

"You can manage to wait that long," Mrs. Primus said.

"But 45 minutes! Will they just leave Davey at the house?"

"No, of course not," Bill laughed. "They may have started back already."

"But the man at the moving company said they'd still be unloading."

"Honey, they were only guessing."

"But they know. They know how long it takes for a truck to go a certain distance and how long it takes them to unload. Will the sheriff bring Davey home?"

"No," Bill said. "He'll take him—and the van, too—into Westbury. He'll get in touch here, and Sergeant Mercer will go up and take over. I suppose he'll have to talk to the movers. After all, Davey has been missing, and they didn't try to call or send word. Sergeant Mercer will bring Davey back with him."

Mrs. Primus stirred thoughtfully. "That's funny, isn't it?" she said. "I mean it's funny they wouldn't even call."

"They were late," Carol said, "and in a hurry." Suddenly she laughed. "Can you imagine that man saying he was Davey's father? And can't you just see Davey's face? I suppose it will all make sense, once we know."

Neither of the two remaining bowls is expected to top the 100,000 attendance drawn by the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif., New Year's Day.

Here's a rundown of the 19 bowls played during the New Year's period:
Rose at Pasadena — 100,800 watched as underdog Washington clobbered Wisconsin 44-8 behind the passing and running of All-American Bob Schlored, and the running of elusive George Ighite.

East-West at San Francisco—60,000 watched as Don Meredith hit a TD pass to Dick Upton with 52 seconds remaining for West's 21-14 victory over East.

All-American at Tucson, Ariz.—14,100 saw the major college all-stars wallop a small college group 63-0.

Sun at El Paso, Tex.—13,500 caught New Mexico State's 28-0 victory over North Texas State.

Tangerine at Orlando, Fla.—12,500 saw Middle Tennessee beat Presbyterian 21-12.

Prairie View at Houston—12,120, the smallest for any bowl, were on hand as host Prairie View whipped Wiley 47-10.

Arkansas has more navigable streams than any other state in the union, offering about 3,000 miles of waterways for boats.

"Is that all he said?" Carol asked.

Bill nodded, looked across at Mrs. Primus, then back at Carol. "That's all," he sighed.

"Up," Carol mused. "He went up."

"You should have seen the state she was in when I got here," said Mrs. Primus.

Bill looked at Carol uncertainly. "You ought to have some rest. You go with Mrs. Primus. I can stay here."

Bill put his arm around her shoulders, and they moved off down the hallway toward the stairs. They walked in silence, leaving the apartment marked on end for both of them. When Bill had closed the door, he had closed it on the last slight reminder of their hope. Without looking back they started down the stairs. Behind them, from inside the apartment, came the sound of the telephone. They stopped.

Bill was the first to move. Whirling about, he ran back up the stairs, crossed to the door and hurried it open, his progress punctuated by the second and third rings of the phone. Hurrying into the living room, seeing the phone on the window seat, he ran to it and snatched it up. Carol appeared in the doorway behind him, stopped. She started to speak, but Bill answering the phone, held up a hand, listening intently. For a moment a look of hope flickered across his face, but then, almost instantly, it died. He turned, holding the receiver tight against his chest.

"It's some woman," he said, "a Mrs. Mortom. She insists on speaking to you—about Davey."

"About Davey?" Carol ran forward, her hand outstretched.

"It could be another crank," Bill said quickly. "I'd better tell her to get in touch with the police."

Carol hesitated and her eyes clouded with indecision. Finally she nodded. "All right." Then suddenly, as he was about to speak, she put her hand out again.

"I want to speak to her Bill," she said unhappily. "I've got to. Bill's eyes studied her face for a moment, and then he held the phone to his ear.
